The church is no longer used as a place of worship. The former Logie Kirk faces slightly north of east rather than in the traditional due east direction, and the gravestones face in the same north-easterly direction. The building is flanked by lairs on its south-eastern and north-eastern sides. Identification of the stones is by two letters, LF, denoting Logie Kirkyard, Fife, followed by a single letter followed by a number. The single letter designates the row, reading from south-west to north-east alphabetically, and the numbers designate the stone, numbering south-east from the north-westerly end of the row. For example, stone LF-J08 is in row J, the 10th row from the south-west, and is the the 8th stone from the north-west.
